

GET YOUR IDEA NOTICED

Got an idea to improve your university? We're looking to support around 10 student-led projects that will improve the University of Lincoln. Your idea could range from trialling engagement with Twitter in lectures, to creating a video to advise staff on giving feedback, to organising a series of skills workshops.

You can apply individually or in small groups. If you want your idea noticed, then all you need to do is answer 5 questions online and find a member of staff who will support your project (we can always help you with this).
